

Machine cancel

Commemorative cancel

Fire was a communal interaction for Neanderthal society. To keep this valuable tool available for light, heat, cooking or to keep wild animals at bay, it had to be tended by group members.

Remains were arranged on flower beds with the limbs folded carefully.

Burial procession, specimen

